

Student Forms: English Education - Evaluation for Admission to College of Education

Last Modified on 10/28/2021 8:01 am CDT

English Education majors use this form to request a confidential evaluation (which is part of their application to the College of Education and Human Sciences) from an English professor. This eForm replaces the paper English Education evaluation forms, also known as the blue sheets. English Education majors must have four evaluations on file-- from their professors for ENGL 210; ENGL 221 or 284; another 200-level English course (other than those listed above); and a 300-level English course --when they submit their application for admission to the College of Education and Human Sciences. English Education majors are advised to send this form to their professor before the end of the semester they take the relevant course.
